PARTNERS

ROBERT K. PHILLIPS

Robert K. Phillips, a founding partner of the firm, is a veteran of over 100 trials. As defense counsel, Mr. Phillips has obtained a defense verdict in over 95% of his jury trials. In the 5% of jury trials in which a defense verdict was not rendered, the ultimate award was less than his clients' settlement offer prior to trial. Mr. Phillips has successfully tried all cases in which he has represented plaintiffs, obtaining millions of dollars for his clients including awards of punitive damages. Mr. Phillips' trials have involved allegations of wrongful death, product liability, construction defect, negligent security, insurance bad faith, breach of contract (employment, real estate, transactional), premises liability, trade secret infringement, real estate fraud, wrongful eviction, professional errors and omissions, rent control violations and food borne illness. He has also served as national coordinating counsel in Proposition 65 litigation and successfully prosecuted claims of patent and trademark infringement. Mr. Phillips' 2016 trial successes include prevailing against a large shipping company on behalf of Gap, Inc. and prevailing on behalf of a major software development company.

Mr. Phillips received his Juris Doctorate degree from the University of Notre Dame in 1985 and his Masters of Law degree from the London School of Economics and Political Science in 1986. He also received a Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Arizona and a Master's degree in Theology from Boston University. Mr. Phillips was Associate Professor of Business Law and Political Science at the American College of London for two years.

In recognition of his litigation experience, Mr. Phillips has received commendation from the United States Department of Justice and has been a frequent guest on the nationally syndicated program, Legal Incite. He has frequently lectured at local universities and presently serves as arbitrator and mediator for both the San Francisco County Superior and Municipal Courts. Mr. Phillips is also a Marin County Commissioner and a Trustee for Garrett Theological Seminary.

Mr. Phillips is admitted to practice in California, Indiana, and Nevada and is a member of the California Bar Association, the American Bar Association and the International Bar Association. His published opinions include:

GREGORY L. SPALLAS

Gregory L. Spallas, a founding member of the firm, was admitted to the California Bar in 1987 after receiving his Juris Doctorate degree with honors from the Syracuse University College of Law in 1986. While earning his degree, Mr. Spallas clerked for the Honorable Howard G. Munson, Chief Justice, United States District Court for the Northern District of New York and the New York Attorney General's Office. Prior to receiving his J.D. degree, Mr. Spallas attended the University of Wisconsin, receiving his Bachelor of Arts degree in 1982 with dual majors in International Relations and History.

Since his admission to the California Bar, Mr. Spallas has gained extensive experience in the field of civil litigation, with a special emphasis on employment related litigation, including the defense of claims premised upon sexual harassment, discrimination, Americans with Disabilities Act violations, wrongful termination, Labor Code §132(a) claims, and wage and hour issues. In addition to numerous mediations and arbitrations, Mr. Spallas has successfully tried numerous cases to jury verdicts in both state and federal court, many of which involved multi-million-dollar claims. Mr. Spallas also provides counseling services to many employers and has drafted and advised on employment manuals and other workplace policy and procedure guidelines.

Mr. Spallas also has an extensive background in the defense of environmental claims, including actions based upon asbestos, silica and Proposition 65 violations. Mr. Spallas has successfully defended commercial entities from all parts of the country in mass tort litigation in California courts, in both serious physical injury and/or wrongful death claims allegedly due to exposure to toxic materials. Mr. Spallas also has years of experience in the defense of personal injury actions, including premises liability, automobile and intentional tort claims.

Mr. Spallas is a member of the American and the San Francisco Bar Associations and is admitted to practice in all State and Federal District Courts in California, the United States Court of Appeals, Ninth Circuit, and the United States Supreme Court. Mr. Spallas also serves as an arbitrator for the San Francisco and Santa Clara County Courts.

TODD A. ANGSTADT

Todd A. Angstadt graduated cum laude from the University of San Francisco in 1993, where he earned his Juris Doctor degree. While attending law school, Mr. Angstadt clerked for the National Labor Relations Board. Prior to earning his J.D., he earned dual degrees in education and the fine arts from Wichita State University. In January 2010, Mr. Angstadt was inducted into the International Association of Defense Counsel.

For well over a decade, Mr. Angstadt's practice has emphasized landlord-tenant law, premises liability, and products liability in both State and Federal Courts. Mr. Angstadt has tried numerous cases to verdict and is a member of the International Association of Defense Counsel, an invitation only, peer-reviewed organization limited to approximately 2,500 members worldwide. Mr. Angstadt's published legal opinions include State Farm Fire & Casualty Company v. Yukiyo, Ltd., 870 F. Supp. 292 (1994).

Mr. Angstadt has served as a Judge Pro Tem in Alameda County. He has volunteered for the San Francisco Aids Legal Referral Panel and Oakland's Lawyers in the Library Program. Mr. Angstadt is licensed to practice in all State and Federal District Courts in California and is a member of several local and national professional organizations, including the Bar Association of San Francisco, the State Bar of California, and the American Bar Association.

MICHAEL R. HALVORSEN

Michael R. Halvorsen is the managing partner of the Los Angeles office. He began his career as an intern under veteran Santa Barbara litigator Barry L. Snyder in the late nineties while attending the University of California at Santa Barbara. Mr. Halvorsen earned his Bachelor of Arts degree in English from UCSB in 1999. After graduation, he continued working at Mr. Snyder's firm for another year as a law clerk before starting law school at the University of San Francisco School of Law in the Fall of 2000.

At USF, he received the Best Oral Argument Award from the Moot Court Board, was the Executive Articles Editor of the Maritime Law Journal, a pupil in the U.S.F. Inns of Court, Quarter-Finalist in the Judge John R. Brown Moot Court Competition in New Orleans, and Finalist in the San Francisco Trial Lawyers' Association's Mock Trial Competition. He also authored Citation and Precedent: A Practitioner's Guide to Citation and Precedent Value of Opinions Published in AMC under the Ninth, Fifth, Eleventh, and Second Circuit's Rules, 199 U.S.F. MLJ 199. Thereafter, he was invited to be the first student ever to address the bi-annual Pacific-Admiralty Conference. During the summer of his second year in law school, he clerked for a national firm where he focused on the defense of manufacturers in product liability litigation. He received his Juris Doctor degree in May of 2003.

Mr. Halvorsen joined Phillips, Spallas & Angstadt LLP the same day he passed the California State Bar in November 2003. After working in the firm's San Francisco office for two years, he moved to Los Angeles where he continued to practice litigation in all California state and federal courts together with pre-litigation investigations and mediations. In February 2007, he led the opening of the firm's Los Angeles office in Century City before moving to the Sepulveda Center (near the 405/10 interchange) in 2016 to be more convenient for clients.

Mr. Halvorsen's primary practice areas include most areas of litigation including product liability, complex landlord-tenant disputes, consumer warranty under state and federal statutes, significant personal injury, premises liability, breach of fiduciary duty, breach of contract, and homeowner's association disputes. He enjoys working with all clients including Wal-Mart Stores, Inc., Forest River, American Junkie restaurants, Howl at the Moon, and many other smaller 'mom and pop' clients.

Mr. Halvorsen has been part of the trial teams for many lawsuits during his career often in either a lead counsel or co-lead counsel capacity. He continues to be a critical aspect of managing litigation for clients through trial.

Mr. Halvorsen has been a member of the California State Bar in good standing continually since 2003. He is a member of American Bar Association, Association of Southern California Defense Counsel, U.S.F. Inns of Court, San Francisco County Bar Association, and the Los Angeles County Bar Association. He is admitted in all federal courts in California including the United States District Court for the Northern, Central, Eastern, and Southern Districts of California.
